"I truly believe that my experiences with NMA have had a constructive impact on my career over the years. I value the opportunity to create networking and business contacts, support various charities, continue my own professional development, and mentor younger up and coming employees. It has had an enormous impact on my attitude and execution of managerial responsibilities and I believe it has made me a better employee and leader."

The NMA Approach

The National Management Association is one of the world's largest professional associations, dedicated to personal and professional development and fostering leadership skills through exposure and practice.

NMA is a national, not-for-profit organization with almost 23,000 members in nearly 100 affiliated chapters.

Our NMA chapter draws from that unique network and offers employees a non-threatening environment for practicing leadership skills and meeting people in what is often called a "leadership laboratory". Our members come from throughout the organization.

Membership is voluntary, and the chapter elects its own officers, establishes its own bylaws, and determines its own policies and programs.

The chapter membership meets regularly and schedules featured speakers and special programs. Between monthly meetings, members also take part in a wide range of projects that are tailored to the special training and development needs of members and/or the organization. Many of our activities are devoted to management and leadership development, local civic affairs, youth programs, and social events.

Our members are dedicated to learning, growing, and expanding our personal and professional horizons. We invite you to attend one of our meetings and share in the benefits of NMA membership.

Resources and Benefits

- Training programs are offered on a wide variety of subjects – and you can get directly involved and help us select those courses, workshops, and seminars.
- Continuing Education Unit (CEU) credits, recording, and transcripts. The CEU is a nationally-recognized unit of achievement. Chapters offer CEU for most of their programs and the national organization will maintain a database of ALL your CEU, no matter where or when you earned them, free of charge. Free transcripts are yours for the asking at any time.
- NMA's Certificate in Management Studies, a 200-hour program of study, provides direction and recognition for individual growth.
- NMA Certificate in Advanced Management Studies, recognizes the achievement of 500 hours of study.
- The professional designation of "Certified Manager" is offered to chapter members through the Institute of Certified Professional Managers.
- College credit is offered for participation in designated NMA courses thru NMA's relationship with the American Council on Education.
- Members have free access to MANAGE magazine – available online to keep you current with the very latest workplace issues and trends.
- Regional Leadership Development Conferences and an outstanding National Conference to help you connect with other NMA members, hear authors and professional facilitators, and earn CEU for many workshops and lectures.
- Breaktime electronic newsletter keeps you in touch with NMA members from across the nation and personally connected to the national organization.
- Members have access to professional NMA staff assistance in designing a well-planned and structured curriculum for individual/group study.
- Promotion of the American Enterprise System through our local Speech Contest for high school students in grades 9-12. Area students can advance to the national finals and even win the $10,000 1st Place savings bond.
- NMA offers discounts on life, auto, and health insurance, the NMA credit card with low interest rates, and IRS deduction on dues and related educational expenses.
- Tuition assistance programs is available for you and family members through NMA's relationship with Wells Fargo and its Capital for Knowledge program.
