2. NMA LiveOnline

Available via web meeting and a toll-free phone call, these unique one-hour, instructor-led sessions are your key to the best of leadership or LEAN+ learning. A single session hookup costs $25, but 10-session blocks can be bought in advance at a 20% discount.

And that's not all. By linking your central hookup to your organization's meeting-sharing software (or sending out the course material in advance) and toll-free call-in number, you can share this unparalleled training opportunity with every interested employee of your organization at no extra cost. Never before and probably never again has there been such an affordable training tool.

Your chapter has no better way to spread its professional development opportunities or to get credit for resultant participation. For every five participants in a LiveOnline session, your chapter gets an R1 point. If you take full advantage of advertising and implementing these LiveOnline programs for your organization, the resultant R1 points will put you well on the way towards outstanding chapter status and will benefit many of your fellow employees. Start now by making LiveOnline an integral and continuing part of your professional development offerings.
